ANSWER AND SPECIAL REPORT

COME NOW the Defendants, Bryan Gavins, James DeLoach, and Gwendolyn Mosley, by and through the Attorney General for the State of Alabama, the Honorable Troy King, and in accordance with this Honorable Court's June 9, 2008 Order, offer the following Special Report:

PARTIES

1. The Plaintiff, James Robert West, Jr., is an Alabama Department of Corrections ("ADOC") inmate currently incarcerated at Limestone Correctional Facility.
2. Defendant Bryan Gavins is currently employed by ADOC as a Correctional Officer at Easterling Correctional Facility ("ECF").
3. Defendant James DeLoach is currently employed by ADOC as an Associate Commissioner and was previously employed as a Warden at Draper Correctional Facility ("DCF").
4. Defendant Gwendolyn Mosley is currently employed by ADOC as an Institutional Coordinator and was previously employed as a Warden at ECF.

EXHIBITS

1. Defense Exhibit 1 is the Affidavit of Bryan Gavins.
2. Defense Exhibit 2 is the Affidavit of James DeLoach.
3. Defense Exhibit 3 is the Affidavit of Gwendolyn Mosley.

PLAINTIFF'S ALLEGATIONS

Plaintiff filed his original complaint on August 22, 2007, naming as a defendant Officer Bryan Gavins, the law library supervisor. In his original complaint, Plaintiff alleges that on July 24, 2007, he requested additional legal materials and access to the law library to prepare for an appearance in the Montgomery County Circuit Court on August 8, 2007. Plaintiff alleges Officer Gavins responded that he was under orders not to give Plaintiff anything. Plaintiff summarizes that he was denied adequate legal materials and access to the law library.

In the body of Plaintiff's original complaint, he contends he was transferred from DCF to ECF on December 14, 2006 by Warden James DeLoach. Plaintiff alleges this transfer constitutes retaliation by Defendant DeLoach because Plaintiff had filed administrative complaints about the unconstitutional living conditions at DCF.

Plaintiff alleges he wrote to U.S. Senator Richard Shelby and the Alabama Health Department about his alleged unconstitutional living conditions. Senator Shelby forwarded Plaintiff's correspondence to ADOC Commissioner Richard Allen for response. Plaintiff states Commissioner Allen responded to him as follows:

Your letter to Richard Shelby was forwarded to my office for response. I contacted Warden James DeLoach to obtain information in order to answer your letter.

I have been advised that the allegations you wrote about in your letter have all been investigated and are without merit.

By your own admission to Warden DeLoach you do not want to be assigned to Draper and if you file enough complaints Warden DeLoach will transfer you back to Bibb County where you want to be.

I would encourage you to follow proper procedures for obtaining a transfer from Draper. I would also encourage you to display a positive behavior while incarcerated.

Plaintiff then alleges after he was transferred to ECF he was placed in disciplinary segregation for filing a grievance contending he was being denied adequate medical treatment. Plaintiff further states after disciplinary segregation, he was placed in administrative segregation because he refused to sign a living agreement with another inmate at ECF.

In summary, Plaintiff's original complaint alleges Officer Gavins denied him access to the courts and contests his placement in administrative segregation even though he admits in his affidavit that he told ECF's Warden Mosley, "I could not live peaceably with the inmate in the general population." Additionally Plaintiff states he was placed in disciplinary segregation at ECF because he filed a grievance alleging inadequate medical treatment. Plaintiff further alleges his transfers from Bibb to Draper to Easterling Correctional Facilities were retaliatory because he filed administrative complaints.

Plaintiff filed an amended complaint on May 19, 2008. In his amended complaint, Plaintiff names as a defendant Bryan Gavins and for the first time, adds as defendants in the style of the case James DeLoach and Gwendolyn Mosley.

In the amended complaint, Plaintiff alleges Warden James DeLoach transferred him from DCF because Plaintiff filed administrative complaints against ADOC employees assigned to DCF and because he filed a complaint regarding prison conditions.

Plaintiff further alleges Warden DeLoach transferred him because he assisted inmate Victor Holmes in filing a complaint concerning an alleged assault on inmate Holmes. Plaintiff does not allege how Warden DeLoach acquired knowledge of Plaintiff's assistance to inmate Holmes.

Plaintiff alleges Warden Mosley punished him by issuing a disciplinary against him because he filed a grievance with her regarding denial of adequate medical care.

DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE

1. The Defendants deny that they violated the Plaintiff's constitutional rights.
2. The Defendants deny each and every material allegation not specifically admitted herein and demand strict proof thereof.
3. The Plaintiff has failed to state a claim upon which relief may be granted.
4. The Defendants are immune from suit under the Eleventh Amendment to the United States Constitution.
5. The Defendants are immune from suit due to qualified immunity.
6. Defendants plead the applicable statute of limitations.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Inmate West arrived at ECF on December 14, 2006. On December 20, 2006, inmate West was placed in administrative segregation because he claimed that inmate Richard Edwards, AIS 135518, was his enemy and that West could not live in population with inmate Edwards. Plaintiff claimed Edwards was responsible for getting him in trouble at another facility. Inmate Edwards denied being inmate West's enemy. Inmate West was reclassified to administrative segregation, medium custody because he refused to live in general population.

On January 3, 2007, Warden Mosley questioned Law Library Officer Bryan Gavins about inmate West using Rule 32.6 forms to write administrative complaints because Rule 32.6 forms are to be used only for filing complaints in court. Inmate West informed Officer Gavins, who questioned inmate West about the misuse of the Rule 32.6 forms, that he had always used the forms to write administrative complaints and he would continue to do so. On January 3, 2007, Plaintiff West was issued a disciplinary for a violation of Rule 69 – Destroying, Stealing, Disposing, Altering, Damaging State Property.

Inmate West was served a copy of the charge on January 10, 2007 and a hearing was held on January 17, 2007. At the hearing Plaintiff was removed from because of his continuous loud outbursts and scribbling extensively on the disciplinary form he was asked to sign. The hearing officer Linda Glenn found inmate West guilty and recommended 45 days loss of privileges and 45 days in disciplinary segregation. Warden Carter Davenport approved the disciplinary, but reduced the punishment to 30 days loss of privileges and 30 days in disciplinary segregation.

While at ECF, inmate West was assigned to administrative segregation. Inmates who are in administrative segregation are not allowed in the law library, but can request legal materials. Plaintiff made numerous requests for legal materials and he received the appropriate legal materials¹, as well as envelopes and paper. When Plaintiff requested a manila folder, he was informed he would have to purchase one from the canteen.

ARGUMENT

SUMMARY JUDGMENT STANDARD

Summary judgment may be granted only if there are no genuine issues of material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. Fed.R.Civ.P. 56. In making that assessment, the court must view the evidence in a light most favorable to the non-moving party and must draw all reasonable inferences against the moving party. Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317 (1986). The burden of proof is upon the moving party to establish his prima facie entitlement to summary judgment by showing the absence of genuine issues and that he is due to prevail as a matter of law. See Clark & Clark, Inc., 929 F.2d 604 (11th Cir. 1991). Once that initial burden has been carried, however, the non-moving party may not merely rest upon his pleading, but must come forward with evidence supporting each essential element of his claim. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317 (1986); Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242 (1986); Barfield v. Brierton, 883 F.2d 923 (11th Cir. 1989). Unless the plaintiff, who carries the ultimate burden of proving his action, is able to show some evidence with respect to each element of his claim, all other issues of facts become immaterial and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317 (1986); Bennett v. Parker, 898 F.2d 1530 (11th Cir. 1990). As the Eleventh Circuit has explained:

Facts in dispute cease to be “material” facts when the plaintiff fails to establish a prima facie case. “In such a situation, there can be ‘no genuine issue as to any material fact,’ since a complete failure of proof concerning an essential element of the non-moving party’s case necessarily renders all other facts immaterial.” [Citation omitted]. Thus, under such circumstances, the public official is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, because the plaintiff has failed to carry the burden of proof. This rule facilitates the dismissal of factually unsupported claims prior to trial.

898 F.2d at 1532.

I. Plaintiff has no liberty interest in which facility or where in the facility he is housed.

Plaintiff arrived at ECF on December 14, 2006. On December 20, 2006, Plaintiff was placed in administrative segregation because he claimed inmate Richard Edwards was an enemy and he could not live in the general population with inmate Edwards. Edwards denied he was an enemy of Plaintiff. Plaintiff was reclassified to administrative segregation, medium custody because he refused to sign a living agreement and live in general population with inmate Edwards. Plaintiff's confinement to administrative segregation was not a deprivation of constitutionally protected liberty interest and in fact, was caused by Plaintiff's refusal to live in the general population.

On January 3, 2007, Warden Mosley questioned Officer Gavins about Plaintiff using Rule 32.6 forms to write his administrative, not legal, complaints. Officer Gavins then questioned Plaintiff about his misuse of the legal forms to which Plaintiff responded that he had always used the legal forms for administrative complaints. Plaintiff was charged with violating Rule 69 - Destroying, Stealing, Disposing, Altering, Damaging or Selling State Property and received 30 days disciplinary segregation and loss of all privileges. Plaintiff was not placed in disciplinary segregation because of a grievance regarding inadequate health care. Plaintiff violated prison rules and was punished accordingly.

Plaintiff has failed to state a claim because he has suffered no constitutionally significant harm, as he has no liberty interest in his prison assignment. The Due Process Clause only protects restraints that impose significant and atypical hardships on the inmate in relation to ordinary prison life. Sandin v. Conner, 515 U.S. 472, 484 (1995) (holding that inmates had no liberty interest in being free from disciplinary segregation). It has been widely held that prisoners have no liberty interest in their classification status. Meachum v. Fano, 427 U.S. 215 (1976) (holding there is no liberty interest in being free from being transferred to a less agreeable prison); Rodgers v. Singletary, 142 F.3d 1252, 1253 (11th Cir. 1998) (affirming that two months' confinement to administrative segregation was not a deprivation of constitutionally protected liberty interest); Moody v. Daggett, 429 U.S. 78, 88 (1976) (noting that federal inmates have no liberty interest in eligibility for rehabilitative programs); Slocum v. Georgia State Bd. of Pardons and Paroles, 678 F.2d 940, 942 (11th Cir.) cert. denied, 459 U.S. 1043 (1982) (holding prisoners do not state a due process claim by asserting that erroneous information was used in their parole decisions); Johnson v. State, 797 So.2d 1113, 1115 (Ala. Civ. App. 2001). A transfer to another institution or being held in administrative segregation is not a significant and atypical hardship in relation to the ordinary incidents of prison life and thus, the Defendants are entitled to summary judgment.

The decision as to Plaintiff's assignment to a different facility was proper in any event, and it is entitled to judicial deference. As the Supreme Court has stated, federal courts "ought to afford appropriate deference and flexibility to state officials trying to manage a volatile (prison) environment. (Citations omitted.) Such flexibility is especially warranted in the fine-tuning of the ordinary incidents of prison life, a common subject of prisoner claims since Hewitt." Sandin at 482-483.

II. Plaintiff has failed to state a claim of retaliation under 42 U.S.C. § 1983.

Plaintiff alleges his transfers from Bibb to Draper to Easterling Correctional Facilities were retaliatory because he filed administrative complaints regarding prison conditions. The Plaintiff has failed to state a claim of retaliation under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. "Claims alleging retaliation must be factual and mere conclusory allegations of unconstitutional retaliation will not suffice." Adams v. James, 797 F. Supp. 940, 948 (M.D. Fla. 1992) (citing Frazier v. Dubois, 922 F.2d 560, 562 n.1 (10th Cir. 1990)). The Eleventh Circuit has routinely applied the analysis enunciated by the Supreme Court in Mt. Healthy City Sch. Dist. Bd. of Educ. v. Doyle, 429 U.S. 274 (1977) to various kinds of retaliation claims brought under 42 U.S.C. § 1983. See Allen v.

Autauga County Bd. of Educ., 685 F.2d 1302 (11th Cir. 1982); Kurtz v. Vickrey, 855 F.2d 723 (11th Cir. 1988). In Mt. Healthy, the Court articulated a burden-shifting standard by which it decides retaliation cases. First, the Plaintiff must show by a preponderance of the evidence that his protected conduct was a substantial or motivating factor in the Defendant's actions against him. If the Plaintiff carries that burden, then the burden shifts to the Defendants to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that he would have made the same decision even in the absence of the protected conduct. Mt. Healthy, 429 U.S. at 287.

In prisoner cases, however, more is required to state a claim under § 1983 than the mere allegation that prison officials retaliated against the inmate for exercising a constitutional right. Federal courts have recognized "that claims by prisoners that particular administrative decisions have been made for retaliatory purposes are prone to abuse." Flaherty v. Coughlin, 713 F.2d 10, 13 (2d Cir. 1983). The Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals has provided persuasive guidance in analyzing prisoner retaliation claims brought pursuant to § 1983:

Not every claim of retaliation by a disciplined prisoner, who either has had contact with, or has filed a lawsuit against prison officials, will state a cause of action for retaliatory treatment. Rather, the prisoner must allege a chronology of events from which retaliation may plausibly be inferred. Murphy v. Lane, 833 F.3d 106, 108-09 (7th Cir. 1987) (holding that the plaintiff's complaint "set forth a chronology of events from which retaliatory animus on the part of the defendants could arguably be inferred" sufficient to overcome a motion to dismiss). See also Benson v. Cady, 761 F.2d 335, 342 (7th Cir. 1985) (noting that "alleging merely the ultimate fact of retaliation is insufficient"). Barring such a chronology, dismissal may be appropriate in cases alleging retaliatory discipline.

Cain v. Lane, 857 F.2d 1139, 1143 n.6 (7th Cir. 1988).

Plaintiff in the instant case does not allege any chronology of events such that retaliation can be inferred. In fact, Plaintiff's complaint shows he consistently files administrative complaints with various prison officials so that he can continuously and falsely allege legitimate penological acts are the result of retaliation. Plaintiff alleges amorphously that he has filed unspecified complaints and then alleges his transfers from prison to prison, his classification, and disciplinary are a result of retaliation. He is simply devoid of specifics. This is the very reason the appellate courts require allegations of a chronology of events rather than mere conclusory pleadings.

According to the Eleventh Circuit in Thomas v. Evans, “The first amendment prohibits state officials from retaliating against prisoners for exercising the right of free speech.” Thomas v. Evans, 880 F. 2d 1235, 1241 (11th Cir. 1989)(citations omitted). The Eleventh Circuit also states, “The first amendment … prohibits state officials from denying a prisoner’s legal right of access to the courts.” 880 F. 2d 1235, 1241 (11th Cir. 1989). Plaintiff alleges in his complaint and amended complaint Warden DeLoach and Warden Mosley retaliated against him for filing grievances. Plaintiff alleges Warden DeLoach had him transferred to ECF and Warden Mosley had Officer Gavins issue a disciplinary against him for a violation of Rule 69 – Destroying, Stealing, Disposing, Altering, Damaging State Property. Plaintiff has completely failed to provide any evidence that his protected conduct was a substantial or motivating factor in the Defendants’ alleged retaliatory actions. As previously discussed, Plaintiff has no liberty interest in which prison he is housed or where within the prison he is housed, therefore his retaliation claims against simply fail. Evidence has been submitted showing that the Plaintiff’s own behavior (misusing legal materials) resulted in the disciplinary action taken against him by Officer Gavins. The Plaintiff’s retaliation claim must fail because the penalties of being issued a disciplinary were not a result of the Defendants’ retaliation against the Plaintiff, but because of the Plaintiff’s own infractions. Officer Gavins filed the disciplinary against the Plaintiff after Warden Mosley questioned Officer Gavins about Plaintiff using Rule 32.6 forms to write his administrative, not legal, complaints in violation of Rule 69.

The Defendants would have clearly made the same decisions, even if the Plaintiff had not filed complaints regarding his living conditions. Therefore, there is no causal connection between the Plaintiff's vague and unspecified actions and the Defendants' actions. It is evident that the actions the Defendants took against the Plaintiff were not a form of retaliation against the Plaintiff.

III. Plaintiff has access to the Courts.

The Plaintiff alleges that he has been denied access to the law library and adequate legal materials. Persons in segregation are not allowed to be in the law library. Plaintiff, as are others in segregation, is allowed to request whatever legal materials he deems necessary and has frequently done so. It is true that Bounds v. Smith, 430 US 817 (1977) stands for the proposition that a prison system must insure that a prisoner has reasonable access to the courts, which can be provided by access to an adequate law library or legal assistance, but it is not true that Bounds purports to list the requirements for an adequate law library and access thereto. In Lewis v. Casey, 518 US 343, 351 (1996) the Court stated: "Because Bounds did not create an abstract freestanding right to a law library or legal assistance, an inmate cannot establish that his prison's law library is subpar in some theoretical sense. This would be the precise analogy of a healthy inmate claiming constitutional violation because of the inadequacy of the prison infirmary. Insofar as a right vindicated by Bounds is concerned, meaningful access to the courts is the touchstone, id., at 823, 97 S. Ct., at 1495 and the inmate therefore must go one step further and demonstrate that the alleged short coming in the library or legal assistance program hindered his efforts to pursue a legal claim." "Although Bounds itself made no mention of an actual injury requirement, it can hardly be thought to have eliminated the constitutional requirement." Lewis

v. Casey, 518 US 343, 357, (1996). The facts in this case show that Plaintiff has accessed legal materials over 80 times. The instant action that the inmate has filed shows that his access to the courts is in no way hindered². Plaintiff further has not alleged any damage caused to him by any denial of access to the law library.

Plaintiff has additionally alleged he was denied a file folder to keep his notes in for an August 8, 2007, court appearance in the Montgomery County Circuit Court. Plaintiff does not allege anything further. There is no constitutional right to a manila file folder. Plaintiff's legal theory is defective because the facts clearly show he has access to sufficient legal materials.

IV. The statute of limitations has expired on certain allegations.

Plaintiff makes reference in his affidavit filed with his original complaint (Doc. 1) to an alleged improper transfer from ECF on May 2, 2003. In the body of his complaint (Doc. 1), Plaintiff refers to being placed in segregation for six months in 2002. As to these allegations and to any others buried in Plaintiff's filings which contest actions that occurred before August 22, 2005, the Defendants assert the applicable statute of limitations of two years. There is no federal statute of limitations for actions brought pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. In Owens v. Okure, 488 U.S. 235 (1989), the United States Supreme Court held that the appropriate state statute of limitations to borrow for claims brought under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 when the state has multiple statutes of limitations for personal injury actions is the residual or general personal injury statute of limitations. The applicable Alabama statute of limitations provided in Ala. Code § 6-2-38(l) is two (2) years. Any alleged incidents before August 22, 2005 are simply beyond the statute of limitations.

V. The Defendants are immune from suit.

Plaintiff's suit is barred under the doctrines of discretionary function and qualified immunity. Qualified immunity protects government officials from civil trials and liability when their conduct "violates no clearly established statutory or constitutional rights of which a reasonable person would have known." Wilson v. Blankenship, 163 F.3d 1284, 1288 (11th Cir. 1998), quoting Lassiter v. Alabama A&M Univ., Bd. of Trustees, 28 F.3d 1146, 1149 (11th Cir. 1994). The Defendants are also entitled to discretionary-function immunity, which protects the discretionary acts of state employees from suit unless a plaintiff can show the employee acted maliciously or in bad faith. Taylor v. Adams, 221 F.3d 1254, 1261 (11th Cir. 2000). As Plaintiff has not shown that the Defendants' acts violated clearly established law, or were done in bad faith, they are immune from suit.

To the extent that the Plaintiff asserts his claims against the Defendants in their official capacities, the claims must fail because the Defendants are entitled to immunity via the Eleventh Amendment. The Eleventh Amendment to the United States Constitution provides that "[t]he judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state." The Amendment not only bars suits against a state by citizens of another state, but it also bars suits against a state by that state's own citizens. See Edelman v. Jordan, 415 U.S. at 663, 94 S. Ct at 1347 and Hans v. Louisiana, 134 U.S. 1, 13-15, 10 S. Ct. 504, 33 L.Ed. 842 (1890). The Defendants were acting within the scope of their official duties in this instance on behalf of the State of Alabama. The State of Alabama has not waived its immunity or consented to the filing of such a suit. The Defendants are absolutely immune from suit in this instance. U.S. Const. amend. 11; Art. I, § 14, ALA. Const. (The State of Alabama shall never be made a defendant in any court of law or equity); see also Kentucky v. Graham, 473 U.S. 159, 165 (1985) (a claim against a state official in his official capacity is a claim against the state).

CONCLUSION

There are no genuine issues of material fact, and the Defendants are entitled to judgment as a matter of law. WHEREFORE, the Defendants respectfully request that this Honorable Court dismiss the claims against them.

Respectfully submitted,

AFFIDAVIT

Before me, the undersigned authority, a Notary Public, in and for said County and State of Alabama at Large, personally appeared James H. DeLoach, who being known to me and being by me first duly sworn, deposes and says on oath as follows:

My name is James H. DeLoach. I am presently employed as Associate Commissioner of the Alabama Department of Corrections. I am over twenty-one (21) years of age.

The Plaintiff alleges that I had him transferred because he filed "administrative complaints" and assisted another inmate in filing a complaint. This claim is untrue and without merit.

While the Plaintiff was in my custody as Warden of the Draper Facility, I had several conversations with the Plaintiff concerning his various complaints. Each complaint was found to be baseless and certainly did not result in any type of punitive action being taken against the Plaintiff.

AFFIDAVIT

Before me, the undersigned authority, a Notary Public, in and for said County and State of Alabama at Large, personally appeared Gwendolyn C. Mosley, who being known to me and being by me first duly sworn, deposes and says on oath as follows:

My name is Gwendolyn C. Mosley. I am presently employed as Institutional Coordinator of the Alabama Department of Corrections. I am over twenty-one (21) years of age.

Inmate James West arrived at Easterling Correctional Facility on December 14, 2006. On December 20, 2006, six days later, he was placed in Administrative Segregation claiming that inmate Richard Edwards, #135518 was his enemy and that he could not live in population with inmate Edwards. Inmate West claimed that inmate Edwards was responsible for getting him into trouble at another institution. Inmate Edwards denied being inmate West's enemy. Inmate West was reclassified to Administrative Segregation, Medium custody because he refused to live in general population.

On January 3, 2007, I questioned the Law Library Officer, Bryan Gavins about inmate West using Rule 32.6 forms to write complaints. These forms are provided to inmates for legal use only. When Officer Gavins asked inmate West about the misuse of the forms, inmate West replied that he always used the forms to write complaints and that he would continue to write on the forms. Inmate West received a disciplinary for violation of Rule #69, Destroying, stealing, disposing, altering damaging state property (see attachment). Inmate West was found guilty, and the Hearing Officer, Linda Glenn, recommended 45 days disciplinary segregation and 45 days loss of privileges. Inmate West was removed from the hearing because of his continuous loud outbursts and intentionally scribbling on the disciplinary form instead of signing it. Warden II Carter Davenport approved 30 days disciplinary segregation and the loss of all privileges.

I did not punish inmate West for filing a grievance/complaint regarding denial of adequate medical treatment by the medical staff. Inmate West was issued a disciplinary for violating the rules and regulations. Inmate West always had access to medical care and he was seen by the health care provider as needed. Inmate West was housed in the Administrative Segregation unit because he refused to live in general population.

I deny violating the rights of inmate James West.
